PRESIDENT'S REPORT.

As President of the Board of Visitors of the Kentucky School for the Blind, it gives me pleasure to report an unusually successful year.

The attendance of pupils from all sections of the State was larger than any previous term, all of whom enjoyed remarkably good health. With the exception of one operative case, there was no serious illness during the entire session.

The members of the Board have visited the school at various times and commend the earnest and faithful work of teachers and employes. At the close of the school session in June, Mrs. C. F. de Mey resigned as resident teacher to take up duties in the public schools, and Charles Frederiek, for more than forty years head of the Music Department, gave up his work to take a well-earned rest and make his future home in Southern California. Such long years of service deserve the commendation and good wishes of all associated with him.

After several years of strict economy and sacrifice to pay off an indebtedness, the school is at last free from this burden and with a small surplus has been able to add to its equipment one new Steinway grand piano for the Assembly room.

The thing of most vital importance during the year was the passage of an Act by the Legislature of 1916 changing the name from "Kentucky Institution for the Education of the Blind" to "Kentucky School for the Blind," and making an appropriation of twenty thousand dollars for "the installation of a new heating plant, the equipment of a modern laundry, other necessary repairs and to provide for the training and employment of the adult blind in an industrial workshop." In view of the financial condition of the State, this continued consideration and generosity on the part of the General Assembly is much appreciated.

As soon as this money was available, bids were taken and the work begun. Owing to the extremely high cost of all materials required, original plans had to be greatly modified so as not to exceed the appropriation. Various delays in completing this work necessitated a postponement of the opening of the school session until October 4th. It is believed this new heating system and power driven laundry will be a great benefit and will give greater and more efficient service.

In addition to these improvements, six splendid shower baths were installed for the boys, which will give more ample bathing facilities.

The entire interior of the Colored Department was painted and the exterior will be done as soon as the weather permits. The main building is yet to be painted inside and out and many other needed repairs to be made to buildings, fences and grounds.

All of these things cost so much in this time of soaring prices that it is feared very little of this twenty thousand dollars will be available for work among the adult blind, which is one of Kentucky's sorest needs. For nearly seventy-five years, this State has provided for the education of her blind children between the ages of six and eighteen years, but has offered no opportunity to those whose sight is lost after school age. The last United States Census reports two thousand one hundred and fifty-three blind in Kentucky. Of these probably seventy-five per cent. are adults. Appeals are constantly coming to help these most unfortunate citizens of our State. For several years, a few blind men have been given training and employment in the Kentucky Workshop for the Adult Blind, which has had a struggling existence, dependent upon a few interested individuals for support. The work already begun must be maintained and enlarged in order that these hundreds of blind adults in Kentucky may be taught some useful occupation and thus enable them to have, at least, some chance to earn a livelihood. A field worker and supervisor are absolutely essential to the success of this undertaking. Funds are needed to maintain this philanthropic work. In other neighboring states, large sums of money are appropriated, bequeathed and donated to this most worthy cause. Are Kentuckians less generous and humane? May we not have your help and co-operation to bring some light into these darkened lives? It is earnestly hoped that the next General Assembly will recognize the importance of this greatly needed work and will make a specific appropriation for that purpose.

TO THE RELATIVES AND FRIENDS OF BLIND CHILDREN OF KENTUCKY.

In almost ever State in our Union, there are free schools for the various defective classes.

Kentueky established her school for the blind in 1842, being the eighth school of the kind in the country. There are now forty-five of sueh schools in the United States, in whieh were trained last year 5,227 blind children, of whom 159 were in the Kentueky School for the Blind at Louisville.

The purpose of the State in founding the school was to give to the child with defective sight as good an edueation as is offered to the seeing child, and, in addition, to give it instruction in manual training.

In 1884, the General Assembly passed an act providing for the addition of a department in a separate building, and distinct from the whites, for the edueation of the colored blind children of the State.

In earrying out the purposes of the founders of this public school for the blind, the board has endeavored to meet the expectations of a wise and benefieent public sentiment. They have tried to follow in the line first marked out by those eminent men who founded and for many years guided the progress of the sehool. With this end in view, they have secured skillful and devoted teaehers, good and faithful servants, improved edueational applianees, and have provided that the ehildren under their eontrol shall be properly and kindly eared for, thus providing the advantages of a high-class boarding school, free of eost, for all blind children.

Notwithstanding all this, about 70 per cent. of the blind ehildren of Kentueky, between the teaehable ages of six and sixteen years of age, are growing up in ignorance, without any share in the great advantages so freely offered by the State.

The American idea for a school for the blind is as far removed from it being an asylum, on the one hand, as it is from its being a hospital for the treatment of diseased eyes, on the other hand.

Its work is strictly educational, and it is established, not out of charity for the afflicted, but from a sense of justiee that recognizes the fact that, under the principles of our government, a free education is the birthright of every child in the republic.

A blind child, or one with defective sight, should be sent to school as soon as it can get along without a nurse, say at six or seven years of age. Every year's delay after that time renders the task of its education more difficult and incomplete. From the moment it reaches the school, the sense of touch has to be persistently trained. The kindergarten, with its great variety of devices and employment for busy fingers, is of inestimable value for this purpose, and the work done by the children in this department arrests the attention and excites the admiration of the most careless visitor.

After the kindergarten, the child studies things and models of things; and in its study of geography, models in sand and clay, the surface of his State and country, and the grand divisions of the globe; he is taught to read and write and cipher; he studies grammar, history, natural philosophy and all the branches of a good education.

If he has any musical ability, it is scientifically and sedulously cultivated, for it is in the practice of the art of music that he can compete with his seeing comrades on more equal terms than in any other occupation.

He is also given instruction in the work shop, where he learns to cane chairs, make brooms, mops, baskets and to do simple carpentry and upholstery, such as the repairing of lounges and the manufacture of mattresses. If he is capable of learning it, he is taught the art of piano-tuning, in which art several of our graduates have obtained well-deserved success. Graduates of our school are in charge of the music departments in the schools for the blind in Louisiana and Arkansas.

The girls are carefully taught the use of the needle and learn, as they progress, how to patch and darn and mend, how to knit, how to use the sewing machine, and how to cut out, fit together and make their own garments. They are also taught basketry and weaving, and given a thorough course in domestic science, which includes the care of a house and the preparation and cooking of food.

In this course of study and development, extending over eight or ten years, the blind child gains a confidence in his own power that enables it to overcome, to a great extent, the natural awkwardness of blindness. It has become a youth of intelligence, an agreeable companion, a self-respecting, independent person, familiar with current events, with a well-trained mind and familiar with the amenities of civilized life. He is, to a considerable extent, prepared to earn a living for himself.

To withhold from a child such opportunities is a serious mistake, while no greater kindness can be shown such a child than to secure for it the advantages of an education. The school year begins the second Wednesday in September and closes the second Wednesday in June, and at the close, the children are returned to their homes, as it is the desire of the trustees to maintain, as far as possible, the home ties of the child.

The members of the board will gladly correspond with any person who wishes to learn more of the school, or who desires to learn how to proceed to have a child admitted to the school.

BOARD OF VISITORS.

Genl. Bennett H. Young, President.

Thos. L. Jefferson,
Thos. C. Timberlake,

Charles P. Weaver,
Wm. S. Kaltenbacher.

TERMS OF ADMISSION.

In respect to the forms to go through to secure the admission of a child to the Kentucky Institution for the Education of the Blind, it is only required that the child be of so defective vision as to be unable to get an education in the ordinary schools; that it be of good health and sound mind, and within the ages of six and eighteen, for it must be remembered that the institution is neither a hospital nor an asylum. If the child is destitute, the fact should be so certified by the county judge, and in that case, clothing will be provided. No charge is made for board or tuition. The school session begins on the second Wednesday of June. Pupils will be admitted at any time within these dates, but they are much benefited by beginning promptly at the first of the session. The children all return to their homes in the summer.

If fuller information is desired, it may be had from the superintendent or from any of the trustees, who will cheerfully correspond with any person wishing to place a blind child in the institution.

APPLICANTS FOR ADMISSION SHOULD ANSWER THE FOLLOWING QUESTIONS IN WRITING.

What is the child's name?.....
When was the child born?.....
Where was the child born?.....
What was the name of the father?.....
What was the mother's maiden name?.....
What was the cause of the child's blindness?.....
How long has its eyes been affected?.....
How much can the child see?.....
Are any of the child's kin blind, or have any of them trouble with their eyes?.....
If so, state who these are.....
Have the child's eyes ever been examined by an oculist?.....
If so, when?.....
What was the name of the oculist?.....
Has the child been vaccinated?.....
Is the child of good health and sound mind?.....
What is the post-office address of the child's parents or guardian?.....
Where and to whom may a telegraph message concerning the child be sent?.....
Who will care for the child during vacation?.....

NEW LAW FOR THE PREVENTION OF BLINDNESS.

Whereas, trachoma and ophthalmia in the new-born, both highly infectious eye diseases, which usually result in blindness, unless promptly recognized and treated, now exist in widely separated counties and sections, and everywhere show a tendency to break over official control and become widespread; and,

Whereas, so large a per cent. of those who now have these diseases, or who are exposed to the contagion of either of them, will become charges upon public charity, as to make systematic precautions against their further spread matters of great financial as well as humanitarian importance; now, therefore,

Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Kentucky:

1. That it shall be the duty of the county board of health of each county, acting in co-operation with the county medical society and State Board of Health, to arrange for an annual course of instruction or school for the physicians, midwives and nurses of such county to teach the importance, and the latest and best methods for the early recognition and treatment of, the dangers from, and the precaution to be used against, the infection and contagion to all who come in contact with cases of trachoma and ophthalmia, or any other disease of the eyes of the new-born, or with any towel, utensil or other thing used by or for them; and the importance and imperative duty of at once reporting all cases of such diseases to the county or city health authorities, as may be, and of keeping a true record of all such cases.

2. That it shall be the duty of the State Board of Health to secure the co-operation and assistance of the national health authorities in dealing with these diseases, and to prepare and issue bulletins or other literature containing professional and popular information as to the prevalence and infectious character of such eye-diseases, and the precautions to be used against such infections; and to furnish formulae and other information for the use of physicians and midwives in the management and treatment of such diseases. It shall be the duty of the county boards of health to furnish to physicians and midwives the simple drugs to be used for the indigent in preventing and in treating such diseases.

3. That it shall be the duty of every physician and of every midwife, who, while in attendance upon a baby under thirty days old, or upon its mother, has observed ophthalmia in the new-born baby, and the duty of the head of a family and of a trained nurse in a family in which there is a baby under thirty days old and no physician or midwife in attendance, and the duty of the trained nurse and of the head of any institution in which there is a baby under thirty days old and no physician or midwife in attendance upon it or its mother, to report the case of ophthalmia in the new-born, within six hours after observing it, to the city board of health, if the case shall have occurred in a city then having a city board of health, or if there be no city board of health, or if the case shall have occurred outside a city, to the county board of health within twenty-four hours after observation. And it shall be the duty of every physician to report each case of trachoma, so diagnosed by him as attending or examining physician, within five days after such diagnosis. And any physician, midwife, nurse, or head of family who fails to make the report required by this act, shall, upon conviction, be fined not more than one hundred dollars; and persistent failure or refusal on the part of a physician, midwife or nurse to make such report, or to take the necessary precautions to prevent the spread of such diseases, shall be a proper ground for the revocation of the right to practice, after due notice and hearing, as now provided by law, for the revocation of certificates to practice medicine in this Commonwealth.

4. That "Ophthalmia in the New-Born" shall be understood to be "any inflammation, swelling and redness of either eye, or of both eyes, either apart from or together with any unnatural discharge from the eye, or eyes, of a baby."

5. That all laws in conflict with this act are hereby repealed.

Approved March 9, 1914.
